PS 6.03
Nelson

Dust Impacts at Comet P/Borrelly

B. T. Tsurutani, D.R. Clay, L.D. Zhang, B. Dasgupta,
D.E. Brinza, M.D. Henry
Jet Propulsion Laboratory, California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, CA 91109

and

K.-H. Glassmeier, G. Musmann, and I. Richter
Technical University of Braunschweig, Germany

The results of the plasma wave instrument onboard DS-1 and the encounter with comet P/Borrelly will be reviewed for the first time. Particular attention will be paid to signatures of dust impacts onto the spacecraft body. The paper will discuss a new model of dust-spacecraft interactions. Estimates of dust size and spatial density distributions will be given.