

JPL Phase Retrieval Camera

JPL has developed a portable instrument for optical testing of large optics in the presence of vibrations and turbulence. This instrument uses a high speed shutter to freeze out image jitter and focus-diverse phase retrieval to measure the wavefront resulting from the test surface. Preliminary results will be presented.